DETAILED ACTION

1. The amendment filed 08/12/2004 has been entered.
2. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).
3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.
4. Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Asa et al(US006158559) in view of Yasuda(US6659243) or, in the alternative, Yasuda(US6659243) in view of Asa et al(US006158559).

The reference to Asa et al discloses the invention substantially as claimed except for the feature that the press molded synthetic layer is made from sheet material which feature is taught by Yasuda. It would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to one having ordinary skill in the art to which the invention pertains to modify the reference to Asa et al to make the pressed molded product of the rod guide of sheet material as taught by Yasuda since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

In the alternative, it would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to one having ordinary skill in the art to which the invention pertains to modify the sheet material formed rod guide of the reference to Yasuda(US6659243) to make the guide of synthetic resin material as taught by reference et Asa et al the pressed molded product of the rod guide of sheet material since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Re the method of applying the synthetic layer or coating, the method would have been a common manner of applying the coating or layer carrying little patentable moment in the product claims.

Re the newly added feature of the coating being direct and limited to one layer, the number of layers of resin applied to the rod guide would have been within the ability of an artisan in the art to select which would not appreciably alter the proper functioning of the rod guide and if properly applied would work equally well with extended service life. The "direct" feature is encompassed by the applied prior art.

5. Applicant's arguments filed 08/12/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for the above reasons.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
